Los Indios Philipinos: Early Filipino Migrant Workers in Acapulco in the 16th and 17th Centuries

Kristyl Obispado, Ph.D.

28 June 2022
3:00 PM Philippine Standard Time

Manila's transformation into a significant global trade center in 1571 and the burgeoning demands of the archipelago's galleon-based economy created a new category of workers that supplemented the forced and free laborers: the early migrant workers. The paper followed the journey from Manila to Acapulco of native Filipinos who became migrant laborers and looked into their life and death as sailors and port workers. By focusing on them, this study aims to understand the phenomenon of early labor migration of indios philipinos (native Filipinos) to Acapulco between 1571 and the 1640s.

About the Intramuros Learning Sessions (ILS)

ILS is the educational webinar series of the Intramuros Administration. Topics are interdisciplinary and cover themes related to Intramuros and Manila studies, Philippine studies, as well as cultural heritage studies. Pursuant to IA's charter, ILS aims to contribute to the strengthening of the Filipino's national identity and sense of belonging and pride. To view previous episodes go here.

About the Intramuros Administration (IA)

IA is a National Government Agency attached to the Department of Tourism of the Philippines. Under Presidential Decree No. 1616, IA is responsible for the orderly restoration and development of Intramuros as a monument to the Hispanic period of Philippine history. The mission of IA is to protect and conserve the historical and cultural value and significance of Intramuros while advancing and guiding urban development within, and contributing to the strengthening of the Filipino's national identity and sense of belonging and pride. IA envisions Intramuros as a model urban site of national historical and cultural heritage, sustaining people and life systems within, and contributing to national cultural and socio-economic progress.
