Dear Dr. Oblinada,

Greetings!

The Biology Teachers Association (BIOTA)-NCR chapter will be conducting a Service Learning Activity (SLA) in the form of a Webinar-Workshop titled Teachers' Hack: Creating and Managing Website at 9AM till 12 Noon (3-hours) on August 16, 2023 (Wednesday). This SLA is part of our mandate as a professional organization. Specifically, this SLA aims to provide learning opportunities for teachers to create and manage their own website to improve further their pedagogical skills, particularly in terms of technology integration. In this regard, the BIOTA-NCR would like to collaborate with your division as the 1st recipient of this endeavor. Cognizant of your efforts to provide relevant Professional Development Training Programs (PDTP) for your teachers, we will appreciate your cooperation by endorsing this activity to your science teachers to register and participate in this event. The service learning will be done via Google Meet, and a certificate of participation will be given to each teacher-participants who will complete the 3-hour webinar-workshop and upon the submission of the SLA evaluation form. To ensure active engagement during the workshop, teacher-participants are requested to bring their own laptop and have their own Google account.

For any question and for further details, kindly coordinate with Dr. Genevieve Pillar, Secretary of BIOTA-NCR. Enclosed herewith is the Tentative Programme for your perusal and comments/suggestions. Your favorable attention is most appreciated.

Sincerely yours,

Socorro E. Aguja, PhD
President, BIOTA-NCR
