Dear Dr. Gonzales:

The Asian Regional Association for Home Economics (ARAHE) was established to give Asian Home Economists and Allied Professionals the opportunity to assemble and discuss the current issues related to the discipline from the Asian perspectives. ARAHE being the Regional Organization of the International Federation for Home Economics (IFHE) endeavors to be an international arm in promoting professional development across all nations.

ARAHE will hold its 22nd Biennial International Congress on August 7–10, 2025, at the Manila Prince Hotel. With the theme “Empowering Future Generations: Home Economics in the Age of Advanced Technology”, it aims to:

- (1) explore the integration of advanced technologies in home economics practices that enhance family wellbeing, including smart home innovations, digital tools for household management, and AI-assisted systems that support everyday living;
- (2) to promote digital literacy and innovative teaching strategies in Home Economics education by showcasing emerging technologies such as virtual reality, data analytics, and interactive platforms that personalize and enrich the learning experience for future practitioners; and
- (3) to foster critical dialogue on sustainability, cultural values, and societal issues by addressing the ethical use of technology, encouraging green consumption practices, and examining the impact of digital environments on family dynamics, interpersonal relationships, and community.

Relative to the foregoing, we would like to request your good office for an issuance of an Advisory for the above-mentioned educational undertaking.
